EDITORIALS: TRENDS

Social

Commenting upon the possibility that "we have moved several steps from the traditional American ideal of the man with a mind of his own and an independent spirit," Chancellor Clark Kerr[1] discusses to some extent the pros and cons of a "free market" in the multiplicity of things in which human beings are involved. This could result in a possible loss of "freely formed opinion" and its replacement by commitment to the state of any organization of men. This may ultimately bring about a "distrust of independence" and a spirit of negativeness on the part of the individual, against "pressures for conformity" with all their commitments, both good and bad. His chief concern however, appears to be a possibility of the loss of "loyalties." If we yield voluntary action to compulsion; positive direction to negative attitude; or a desire on our part individually to care for our own security, to a benevolent government to care for us in our old age, we sacrifice our loyalties. But more than that, we have nothing to be loyal to. We must not allow ourselves to be "unified" or "integrated." Institutions do not allow for independent viewpoints, therefore we must insist upon "limited-function" institutions leaving the idea of "limitlessness" to the individual. The world, our country, our profession, the College needs to ponder this admonition.

Educational

A recent editorial[2] signed by W.A.W. suggests the continued need of a dentist at the helm of a dental school. Or, to be specific, he says: "How then can we justify the chief administrative officer supervising and directing the conduct of dental teaching, the conduct and inspiration of dental students, the leader of the school of dentistry—not a dentist but a doctor of philosophy or mayhaps something else?"

A quick answer might propose some justifiable information. The man who conducted the revolution in dental education during the early half of the 20th century was not a dentist. The man who wrote the first curriculum for this new era was not a dentist. Both were Ph.D.s. The man who directed the development of schools during the years 1938–1946 was not a dentist, but held the degrees Pd.D. and L.L.D. The present secretary of the Council of Dental Education holds the Ph.D. degree.

[1] Idea and Experiment. University of California Press, 3, 2; 1953 (Sept.).

[2] Jnl. N. J. State Den. Assn. 25, 25; 1953 (Sept.).

Although these men are not directing dental schools per se yet they have much to do indirectly with the teaching and administrative processes. Some schools are using administrative officers in first and second places who are not dentists. The general trend in dental education is toward the academic and must continue as dentistry moves into the field of prevention. Dentists must have an increasing understanding of the scientific aspects of dental education and a better application of these principles in their teaching work. It is a difficult task for one man to master two majors. Men without the dental degree now teach the sciences. So in the future there may be a better balance between the scientific and the technical, and the student will be benefitted. As for administration—deans now spend much time on matters not connected with dental teaching or administration. Why take up a dentist's time for that? Teach young men and women dentistry and let them serve the people.

Years ago it did appear that this change would happen and how wrong it was! Why we even thought that dentists should teach chemistry in order to provide the proper slant for the student. But the slow gradual evolutionary change has wrought a change and with it realization of the wisdom involved.

It would appear essential in the future that deans may be either dentists or not—and as for teachers both will be used. Technics must be taught by those who use them and yet what a wide gap sometimes obtains between a well carved technical piece and the use to which it will be put.

The future practice must be confined to children and young people, with orthodontics, periodontics and some operative procedures as prime requirements. The dentist will be taught different thinking and approaches during the next fifty years, as he has been during the past half century. Change is inevitable and the inevitable change in dentistry lies within this particular area.

Censor Medicinae (Dentistae)

"There were giants in those days"

The above caption is borrowed[3], the suggested dental application being then and honestly stated, a paraphrase of the original. The term refers to those men who directed the affairs of medicine in its growth and development, and may be used similarly herewith.

Just as medicine has experienced evolutionary and revolutionary growth, so has dentistry and in each case there were giants, i.e. those who saw far out beyond and thus gave real direction to the movement. But the author also suggests three or four phases making the history of that development, as follows:

1. There is first an idea
2. This is followed by an expansion and acceptance of the idea
3. Then comes a decline
4. The possible fourth phase may be designated a renaissance. This renaissance is a rebirth of the original idea in order to perpetuate the 'original concept' and to prevent its demise by lack of interest.

Sometimes one is inclined to think that dentistry is now approaching the fourth phase, if not wholly in it. Just look back over our own century plus one decade and note the men and the job they did. They were giants. They organized schools, dental societies and literature. They fought over filling materials and technics. They started a change to be completed by a later generation. Now who are the giants to come forth today and make the next advance? And what is the possible advance to be made? Considering these phases of dental practice, cure or repair, control and prevention—are we not right at the latter and ready now to divert all our energy and all our effort in that direction?

Relief

The trend has appeared to be in favor of the relief fund, then a withdrawal and perhaps a little upward swing this year. Last year approximately 50% of the members of the American Dental Association contributed to the fund, and probably those who contributed will not be among those to draw on the fund.

[3] Jnl. Phi Rho Sigma, 49, 4; 1953 (Sept.).

However, that may be as it should be, there is something to the admonition in form of a question, "am I my brother's keeper"? Fellows of the College have a greater responsibility than some others, so let us see that we do our part—100% from Fellows.

A RECOGNITION

Announcement has been made of the publication of a "Bulletin" by the Association of Women Dentists, through the Editor, Naomi Coval. The American College of Dentists, through their JOURNAL, is glad to recognize this announcement and proffer to Dr. Coval and her associates our good wishes and any help which we might give.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE

Section Nd-Dentistry

In previous years abstracts of papers presented before the dental section of AAAS were printed in the College Journal, but for some reason this practice was discontinued.

The annual meeting of the AAAS is always held the last week in December, so the June issue of the Journal, in so far as plans can now be made, will carry the abstracts of Section Nd. Hereafter the report and abstracts should appear in the March issue.

ERRATUM

On page 245 of the December issue of this journal, reference is made to the effect that Dr. Kingsley entered the office of his uncle in Elizabeth, N. Y. This is an error carried on from the History by Koch and Thorpe, biographical volume, No. 2. It should read: "... he went into the office of his uncle, Dr. A. W. Kingsley of Elizabeth, New Jersey."

DENTISTRY IN COLONIAL PHILADELPHIA

HAROLD L. FAGGART, D.D.S.[1]

Philadelphia

As yet no record has been found indicating that the first settlers in Philadelphia received any dental care by barber surgeons or anyone qualified to do this type of work.

In 1682 when William Penn arrived he brought with him three well educated physicians, viz: Thomas Lloyd, Thomas Wynne and Griffith Owen.

Thomas Lloyd was educated at Oxford, where he made considerable progress in the study of literature and science and was a Doctor of Physics; after arriving in this country he never practiced medicine, but took an active part in state affairs, and was made first Deputy Governor of Pennsylvania.

Thomas Wynne, who formerly practiced in London, was a well educated physician. He too, entered into public life after arriving in the Province of Pennsylvania and was elected the first Speaker of the Provincial Assembly.

Griffith Owen, besides being a physician and surgeon was a highly esteemed Preacher among the Friends. Owen left no record of his activities as a practicing physician; he did however, perform the first surgical operation recorded in the Province of Pennsylvania, which was the amputation of an arm.

Gabriel Thomas, in his "Travels Through Pennsylvania," published in 1689, remarks: "Of lawyers and doctors I shall say nothing, because the country is very peaceable and healthy." In the history of these early times medicine is scarcely mentioned (1).

The principle source of information regarding those practicing the dental art in colonial America is obtained from announcements in the early newspapers. In many cases it is the only record we have of practitioners during that era.

"Thirty-eight years after Charles II granted the province of Pennsylvania to William Penn, the first newspaper was established. 'The American Weekly Mercury' made its appearance on December 22, 1719. This was the third newspaper established on the British American Continent" (2).

The approximate population of Philadelphia at this time was twelve thousand (3).

This notice was repeated in the 'American Weekly Mercury' on June 22, 29, July 6 and 13, 1738. Then it was not until July 15, 1742, four years later that William Whitebread's notice appeared in the newspaper. The following advertisement then appeared.

1767 November 5.

After this notice appeared again July 22, 29, August 5 and 19, 1742, no further record was found of this pioneer "Operator for the Teeth" in Pennsylvania.

The notice of Dr. Hugh Tomb, Physician, is found in the Pennsylvania Gazette for January 1, 1761.

From his announcement Dr. Tomb would appear to have been a well qualified physician prepared to treat nearly all the then known diseases of the human body. The N.B. at the end of his announcement states that he is proficient in pulling out teeth and putting in artificial ones. There may have been physicians in the early period in Philadelphia, who practiced some emergency dentistry such as the extraction of painful and abcessed teeth and perhaps treated scurvy but this is the only colonial record we have of such practice by a physician. In his other announcements in the newspapers no further reference is made to the practice of dentistry.

The last notice of Dr. Tomb was published in the Pennsylvania Gazette for February 12, 1767; it announced his intention of leaving the city in the spring. He may not have found his practice very profitable since he was in Philadelphia for only six years. It is to be noted that his three different announcements were found in only one issue of the newspaper.

Robert Wooffendale came from England and located in New York, October 30, 1766. From a notice in the Pennsylvania Chronicle April 6, 1767 we find that he temporarily located in Philadelphia.

This notice appeared in the Pennsylvania Chronicle April 6.

From NEW-YORK,

13, 20 and 27, 1767. His last notice for April 27, contained the following addition to his first notice. "He intends to leave this city on Wednesday 20, of May next." Wooffendale is the most outstanding of the early dental practitioners in colonial Philadelphia. He was the first person to devote his full time to the practice of dentistry and was also the first regular qualified or educated dentist in Philadelphia, having as his preceptor Thomas Berdmore, Esquire, "Operator of the Teeth" to his Britanic Majesty. While in New York City he made the first full upper and lower set of teeth in America for a Mr. William Walton. The dentures were no doubt carved from bone since this was the method used for making dentures at this time and must have been entirely satisfactory for a short time later he married the adopted daughter of Mr. Walton.

The records of the early dentists in Philadelphia are incomplete. Most all of the early practitioners were itinerant dentists traveling

For curing the Scurvy in the BLOOD.

AS the ſcurvy and itching in the blood is a diſ-temper more common than any other diſorder, and is often attended with fatal conſequences from a deſpair of finding relief. This is therefore to inform the public, that there has lately been diſcovered a balſamic tincture, the virtues of which is ſo great, that it eradicates all ſcorbutic diſorders in the blood, be the caſe ever ſo bad or obſtinate, as it cleanſes the body of all ſpots, blotches, pimples or itchings of the blood. Prepared and ſold by Mr. HAMILTON, at the PRINTERS hereof in Market-ſtreet, Philadelphia, and at Mr. Joſeph Soloman's, in King ſtreet, near the Court Houſe, Lancaſter, in bottles, Three Shillings and Nine-pence each. It is a perfect balſam, and great pectoral, heating, drying and preſerving from putrefaction; in it are all the virtues of the natural balſam, and the greateſt conſervative power that can be found in any medicines; it is good for curing moiſt ulcers, whether inward or outward; it is excellent for coughs, colds, aſthmas, pains in the ſide, and ſpleen, ſpitting of blood, ulcers of the lungs, palſies, convulſions, ſtruma's or King's evil, conſumptions, &c. being inwardly taken, and outwardly applied; it ſtrengthens, reſiſts malignity and poiſon, is good againſt the plague, all ſorts of peſtilential and maligant fevers, as meaſles ſmall pox, ſpotted fevers, &c. This medicine is dedicated to the lungs, and is as a fire to dry up their ſuperfluous humidities; it corrects the ſharpneſs of the acid fluids, abates their acrimony, and ſweetens the blood and nervous juices.

between the principle cities along the Atlantic coast, often remaining only a short time in each city, announcing their arrival and departure in the local newspaper. In some cases this is the only record we have concerning these individuals; however, with Wooffendale it is different, for we may trace his activities from the time of his birth in Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, in the year 1742 until his death in Jamaica, Long Island, on October 3, 1828.

Wooffendale's notice was carried in the Pennsylvania Journal for April 16 and 23, 1767, exactly as it appeared in the Pennsylvania Chronicle for April 6, 1767.

The deſtruction which is daily experienced by worms, eſpecially in the bodies of children, render any medicine, which will eradicate them, of great value. The learned Dr. Boarhaave laid the foundation of many diſorders to be owing to theſe deſtructive animals, and was ſenſible could any proper antielminthic be diſcovered, that would deſtroy the ſemina or ſeed, ſo many people would not labour under agues, conſumptions, pleuriſies, dizzineſs, headachs, and many other diſorders, of which they are the firſt foundation. Mr. HAMILTON has been ſo happy, by great application, as to find out a ſafe and ſure vermifuge for the utter extirpation of them, both in old and young people, by purging off all ſlime and putrid matter in the ſtomach and bowels. That thoſe devouring animals exiſt in the body, every ſtage of our lives, and conſtitutions of both ſexes, equally contribute to prove; it cannot poſſibly be otherwiſe; for on ſtrict examination it appears, that the very food which ſuſtains us, contains in it a putrid matter, which is found to be the bed and nurſery of them. This noble medicine is now offered by Mr. HAMILTON, for the good of mankind, and preſervation of children, in packets Three Shillings and Nine-pence each, containing ſix doſes for grown up people, and twenty four for children, with proper directions for uſing.

Continuation of notice—For Curing the Scurvy in the BLOOD, January 1, 1770

From this notice it would appear the demands for his service in the city were so great that it was necessary for him to remain a while longer. This notice was found in the Pennsylvania Chronicle for June 15, 22, and October 19, 1767.

This is the last notice of Robert Wooffendale to appear in the Philadelphia newspapers.

In the Pennsylvania Gazette for August 25, 1768 is found the first notice of Michael Poree as "Operator for the Teeth" from Paris. He was the first of the colonial dentists to make Philadelphia his port of entry in this country. In his N.B. he states that he "lodges at Jacob Garrand's, taylor, at the sign of the Hand in Hand, in Chestnut-Street, between Second and Third-Streets."

The sign of the "Hand in Hand" mentioned here is the sign of the old fire company organized in 1752 which is the oldest fire company

THE MOST VIOLENT TOOTHACH,
Cured in a few MINUTES without DRAWING,
(No CURE No PAY)

BY a TINCTURE which gives immediate eaſe in the Tooth Ach, and cures all diſorders whatever in the mouth or gums, and in a few days uſing will faſten the teeth if ever ſo looſe, and with a little continuance will perfectly cure the ſcurvy in the gums. It likewiſe preſerves the teeth from rotting, keeping ſuch as are decayed from becoming worſe, and takes off all diſagreeable ſmells from the breath and cauſes a large diſcharge of all ſcorbutical humours lodged in the gums, which deſtroy the teeth. By applying this tincture outwardly, it will entirely remove all kinds of ſwellings in the cheek, or pain in the ear, and is an abſolute cure for the head-ach if ever ſo violent; and likewiſe cures the moſt violent rheumatic pains in any part of the body. This valuable tincture is prepared and ſold in bottles at ONE DOLLAR each, with particular directions for uſing it, at the Printers hereof in Market-ſtreet, Philadelphia, and at Mr. Joſeph Soloman's in King-ſtreet, near the Court-houſe in Lancaſter, by the appointment of Mr. HAMILTON, Surgeon Dentiſt and Operator for the teeth, from LONDON, who cleans and beautifies the teeth, and diſplaces all ſuperfluous teeth and ſtumps with the greateſt eaſe and ſafety, and makes and ſets in artificial teeth from one ſingle tooth to a whole ſet, in ſo nice a manner that they cannot be diſtinguiſhed from natural; therefore thoſe Ladies and Gentlemen who have had the misfortune of loſing their teeth, have now an opportunity of having natural or artificial put in with diſpatch and ſecrecy, and in ſuch a manner, as to be of real uſe, ornament and ſervice for many years, without giving the leaſt pain to the patient which is too often the caſe, owing to the want of judgment in the operator.

in America. These signs may still be seen on some of the old properties in down town Philadelphia.

Only one notice of Poree's is found in the Pennsylvania Gazette and this was on August 25, 1768. Five months later on December 8th of the same year his notice appeared in a New York newspaper where he remained until May 27, 1771 when an announcement of his is found in the Pennsylvania Chronicle. This notice was repeated on June 10, 24 and July, 1771.

TO BE SOLD, 1773

In phials at HALF a DOLLAR each, at the ſhop of

J. SULLIVAN, DRUGGIST,

In Second-ſtreet, above Arch-ſtreet,

MC. GINNIS's inimitable TINCTURE, which infallibly cures the ſcurvy in the gums in the ſpace of ten days, let it be ever ſo inveterate or long ſtanding; it effectually eradicates that nauſeous complaint a ſtinking breath, generally proceeding from decayed and rotten teeth, ſcurvy of the gums, and neglect of keeping them clean. This moſt excellent tincture has never failed of giving univerſal ſatisfaction to as many as have been pleaſed to uſe it. Likewiſe a POWDER for poliſhing and giving a fine enamel to the teeth, at ONE SHILLING a paper, with printed directions how to uſe both.——What can be more uſeful or ornamental (eſpecially to the fair ſex) than a ſet of beautiful poliſhed teeth, firmly embraced by healthy and ſound gums? To enlarge on the many benefits which may be derived from the uſe of this celebrated though cheap dentifrice, is unneceſſary; thoſe who once make trial of it will ſtand in no need of any argument to perſuade them to continue it, or recommend it to their friends whoſe teeth or gums are in a ſimilar condition.

N. B. The above tincture may alſo be had at Meſſrs. Bradfords Book-ſtore, above the Coffee-houſe, and at Mr. James Gallagher's ſtore, below the Draw-bridge.

Several items of interest are found in this notice of Poree's. He mentions that his "name will be found over the door on which is delineated his profession in the plainest terms." This is the first of the pioneer dentists in Pennsylvania to put out his shingle.

In his N.B. he states "The great encouragement he has met with in New York, determines him to fix himself in America, and proposes in the future to divide the year between that city and Philadelphia, if he meets with the same approbation." The Pennsylvania Packet carried Poree's final notice for Philadelphia newspapers June 13, and October 3, 1774.

A Mr. Hamilton from London entered this country at the port of Boston and eventually came to Philadelphia. He announced himself as an "Operator for the Teeth and Surgeon Dentist" in the Pennsylvania Chronicle for February 20, 1769 and his notice was repeated in the same paper once a week until July 10th of the same year.

Hamilton's advertisements in the newspapers are interesting for several reasons, he usually refers to himself as Mr. or Dr. Hamilton and at no time does he mention his first name.

Philadelphia, January 17, 1774.

Cured in a few minutes without drawing, by an Eſſence which gives immediate eaſe therein.

BY applying this Eſſence outwardly it will remove all kinds of ſwelling in the cheeks or pain in the ears, and is an abſolute cure for the head-ach if ever ſo violent: It likewiſe eaſes the rheumatic pain in any part of the body. This valuable Eſſence is prepared and ſold in bottles, at ONE DOLLAR each, with particular directions in print for uſing it, and may be had (at Mrs. Devine's in Penn-ſtreet, a few doors from John Hart's vendue ſtore) of Mr. M'GINNIS, Surgeon-Dentiſt, who takes this method of acquainting the ladies and gentlemen, and the inhabitants in general of this part of Britiſh America, that he performs the different operations on the teeth and gums, diſplaces all the ſuperfluous teeth and ſtumps with the greateſt eaſe and ſafety, and if the ſound teeth be ever ſo black he will make them as white as ever they were, without giving the leaſt pain to the patient; and he prepares his inimitable Tincture, which in ten days cures the ſcurvy in the gums, be it ever ſo inveterate or long ſtanding, it likewiſe preſerves the teeth from rotting, keeping ſuch as are decayed from being worſe, and it effectually eradicates that nauſeous complaint called a ſtinking breath, which generally proceeds from decayed teeth, ſcorbutic gums, or neglecting to keep them clean; it beautifies the teeth, let them be ever ſo black, cleanſing them from thoſe ſandy tartarous particles that adhere to them, which occaſion rottenneſs, and bring on frequent tooth-aches; a few times uſing will ſhew the excellency of this dentifrice, more than if a volume was wrote in its praiſe —He likewiſe prepares a powder which poliſhes the teeth, giving to them and preſerving the moſt beautiful enamel. What can be more uſeful or ornamental (eſpecially to the fair ſex) than a ſet of regular and beautifully poliſhed teeth, embraced by ſound and healthy gums?

As he makes but a ſhort ſtay in this city, he recommends to the public to make ſpeedy application.

His tincture and powder are ſold at the ſmall price of 6*s.* with printed directions; and if any perſon uſes this tincture above three or four times, without perceiving a viſible and ſatisfactory proſpect of being ſoon cured, they ſhall have their money returned on application.

Ladies and gentlemen who labour under any of theſe diſorders, and are pleaſed to favour him with their commands, will be attended on the ſhorteſt notice.—The poor, tormented with the tooth-ach, cured gratis.

N. B. Orders will be received by Mr. M'Ginnis, at Mrs. Devine's in Penn-ſtreet, where he now lodges, and will give due attendance from eight o'clock in the morning to five in the afternoon.—His ſtay in this city will be only till the firſt of April next.

At the REQUEST of a number of the INHABITANTS,

DOCTOR M'GINNIS,

SURGEON-DENTIST,

Will be at Carliſle Town the firſt of May,

WHERE he may be conſulted in all diſorders of the teeth, gums, ſockets, ulcers, cancers, fungous, fiſtulas, ſuppurations and inflammations in the gums; not the gums only are afflicted by theſe diſorders, but alſo the teeth, jaw, head, &c.

Thoſe who have had the misfortune of loſing their teeth, have now an opportunity of having natural or artificial fixed in or grafted on the ſtumps, from a ſingle tooth to a complete ſet.—If the ſound teeth be ever ſo black, he will make them as white as ever they were, without giving the leaſt pain; he prevents them from rotting, and thoſe that are decayed from getting worſe. He extracts teeth and ſtumps with great eaſe and ſafety.

 His antiſcorbutic dentifrice has proved beyond all contradiction, to be the moſt efficacious ever offered to the Public for preſerving the teeth, gums, and ſweet breath, and effectually eradicates the ſcurvy, be it ever ſo bad, and reſtores the gums to their priſtine ſtate; and a few days continuance will cure the tooth ach, and prevent its return. Price Six Shillings, with proper directions in print.——On his way to Philadelphia he will attend a week at York Town; alſo a week at Lancaſter.

N. B. His grateful acknowledgments are due to the Ladies and Gentlemen of Talbot, Dorcheſter, Somerſet and Neiſter Counties, in Maryland, for their paſt favours, and hopes, by the experience they have had, that he merits their further encouragement, when he attends among them next June or July.

He promises to cure the most violent toothache in a few minutes without drawing (No Cure No Pay). There are reasons to believe he was a good operator for that time, but it would seem from his first advertisement in the paper he was more interested in selling his medical preparations than the practice of dentistry.

He was the first operator in Philadelphia to offer to take care of the poor gratis.

In the Pennsylvania Chronicle for January 1, 1770 Dr. Hamilton has two different notices in the same paper and on the same page; one, treatment for "Curing the Scurvy in the Blood" and the other for the "Treatment of Toothache." His N.B. is quite interesting as it states "Artificial teeth set in at Two Dollars a tooth and the poor afflicted with the tooth-ache cured gratis, every morning from eight to ten."

It is believed that Hamilton was not in Philadelphia after 1797. The first notice of McGinnis in Philadelphia is found in this advertisement of J. Sullivan, Druggist, In Second Street, above Arch street.

It was not until January 17, 1774 that McGinnis states his duties as a dentist and gives his address and the hours in which he will be found in his office or place of business. It is not clear just how long Mr. M'Ginnis or Dr. M'Ginnis was in Philadelphia but there is no record of him after this notice of April 24, 1775. We know he went to Baltimore and visited towns in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Dr. L. Butte & Co. "Surgeon Dentists" notice first appeared in the Pennsylvania Post for March 16, 1776 and in the Pennsylvania Packet and General Advertiser for April 1, 8 and 29, 1776. This is the first company or dental organization in Pennsylvania.

It is interesting to note that not one of these colonial dentists ever mentions the filling of teeth to preserve them.

William Whitebread the first "Operator for the Teeth" in Philadelphia was only interested in extraction and in selling his antiscorbutic lotion for the treatment of scurvy. It is generally believed that the early settlers were troubled severely with this disease as nearly all the early dentists in Philadelphia had their special remedy for treatment of this condition. It was the greatest remedy advertised by the Apothecaries in the colonial period in Philadelphia.

Men like Wooffendale, Poree, Hamilton, M'Ginnis and Butte were all well trained dentists for their time.

This company does not appear to have been in existence very long for a notice is found in the Pennsylvania Evening Post April 4, 1776 listed as "Dr. L. Butte, Surgeon dentist." The last notice of this dentist is found in the Pennsylvania Evening Post for July 4, 1776.

This particular day is truly a momentous occasion in American history since the Declaration of Independence was adopted and the thirteen American Colonies became free and independent under the name of The Thirteen United States of America on this date.

American College of Dentists

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

FRITZ PIERSON, D.D.S., Lincoln, President[1]

During the past year your President has endeavored to fulfill his obligations, as prescribed by the by-laws of the College. I shall comment briefly on this phase of the year's work. There has been activity by other Officers and Regents of the College which appears to be of such importance as to require fuller consideration.

As have all presidents before me, I have maintained contact with the sections and the unorganized areas by correspondence. Questionnaires have been sent to all section chairmen to ascertain the type of activity in which the sections are engaged. The results showed a great difference in kind and degree. Some sections are very active in promoting the ideals of the College through meetings held independently of other professional meetings.

Apparently the most active sections are following this method and it does seem that much more can be accomplished by thus obviating the confusion and divided attention due to other meetings. As opportunity has presented I have suggested to sections which limit their meetings to one or two breakfast or luncheon meetings during State Society or other dental meeting, that they try an independent meeting.

The objection is sometimes raised that there are too many meetings. But the programs of a College section should differ profoundly from the usual dental meeting and be so outstanding that nothing short of an emergency can keep one from attending.

In correspondence with Fellows in the unorganized areas I have stressed the fact that while there are advantages in group projects, individual Fellows can do much to satisfy their obligations by functioning in other professions or civic groups or merely as individuals. Let every Fellow of the College so conduct himself as to bring credit to the College, the profession and himself.

For several years the Officers and Regents have been making a critical study of College activities to ascertain whether or not all resources are being utilized and directed toward achievements of the objectives of the College.

[1] Delivered at the Convention, 1953, Cleveland, Ohio.

About two years ago the Secretary published a brochure titled, "A Review of the Objectives of the American College of Dentists and Efforts to Attain Them and Suggestions for New Methods and Perhaps New Objectives." I feel this brochure deserves consideration here and I am quoting a substantial portion under the sub-title,

OBJECTIVES

1. "To Promote the Ideals of the Dental Profession."

What has been accomplished in this direction? There is no doubt but that the ideals of the profession have been promoted through the existence of the American College of Dentists and its activities. It is conceivable that without the influence of the American College of Dentists, or a similar organization, the respect for the dental profession might be at a much lower level.

2. "Are we satisfied with our efforts to date?"

Our accomplishments should be satisfying to the degree of denoting progress, but not to the extent of suggesting a 'resting on the oars.' Here I want to state that I do not propose to discuss our past accomplishments, we are primarily interested in future activities and accomplishments.

3. "Do present conditions suggest a different approach, a more intensified effort, new methods, etc.?"

A re-evaluation of effort is always desirable. New methods should always find a place. If there is one lesson that we have learned through some of our activities, in the past, it is that we should take a positive but tolerant attitude not only toward the viewpoint of our own members, but also the dental profession generally. The extremes of such approaches are illustrated in our efforts in the field of dental journalism and prosthetic dental services.

Recent developments and present trends toward broader social responsibilities suggest the re-examination of our basic concepts to determine the soundness of our foundation, the type of structure to be built and maintained, and how our profession can best serve the public in the immediate future. No organization is better equipped to make such an evaluation than the American College of Dentists, but we should not expect to accomplish it in a few months. In the past, the College for the most part, has done spade work in many fields and has the satisfaction of having seen many of its suggestions accepted (after watchful waiting) by other groups. This method, it is believed, is capable of producing permanent results.

4. "To Advance the Standards and Efficiency of Dentistry."

a. Are we satisfied with the present standards and efficiency of dentistry? Only the person steeped in practice and interested solely in production and income with no thought of the future can be satisfied with the present standards and efficiency of dentistry. Meeting the demand for more services to more people on the one hand and visualizing the possible effect of broadly applied preventive and/or control measures on the other, suggest a re-evaluation of our standards and efficiency in light of present day needs and future progress.

b. Should studies be made to determine whether or not our present standards are sound or if we are the victims of dental manufacturers' mechanistic environment, etc.? A re-evaluation in view of present trends and demands might easily point the way to unprecedented changes. Such a study should be thorough and all inclusive in its approach. It should not be superficial. The various facets should be studied by competent persons and brought into summary in a way that will retain all the good efficient segments of our present efforts and weave them with the new.

5. "To Stimulate Graduate Study and Effort by Dentists."

a. What are we as an organization doing toward accomplishment of this end? The College has always given encouragement to broader education. Since research and graduate study go hand in hand, it has probably made its greatest effort toward graduate studies by encouraging and supporting research. It has offered fellowships, encouraged internships and residencies, and the training of specialists in the various fields.

b. Is the graduate and post-graduate program on a plane where we would like it to be? These programs are still in their infancy and should be re-studied. A pertinent question that might well be considered is—What limitations should be placed in the specialty fields in dentistry?

c. How can we cooperate with the Council on Dental Education and the Teaching Institutions to carry forward this objective? It might be that we could function as a service arm to these two agencies. How shall we approach it?

6. "To Confer Fellowship in Recognition of Meritorious Achievement, especially in Dental Science, Art, Education and Literature."

a. Can our present method of selecting persons for recognition be improved upon? During the past 15 years there has been a great deal of change in the method of selecting persons for Fellowship.

However, the basic principle has not been changed, namely, that it is done by nomination and not by application. It is believed that this should not be changed. Details of procedure have been changed in accordance with our experiences, and it would appear that the present method works well when all rules are observed. Difficulties for the most part arise:

1. When the secrecy rules are violated by the nominators.
2. When nominators will not give the necessary time to obtaining the desired information.
3. When local jealousies are permitted to enter the consideration at the local level.

b. Should our criteria for qualification be more specific? There are those who feel that the requirements should be more specifically spelled out. On the other hand, since Fellowship is to be conferred in recognition of meritorious achievement in dental science, art, education and literature, especially, and on the basis of the person's contribution toward the advancement of dentistry generally, it would seem that the general over-all evaluation of achievement, might well be left to the Board of Censors. It is important in such instances, of course, that full and complete details of activities be recorded for the consideration of the Board of Censors. Perhaps more publicity should be given to the fact that a delay of approval by the Board of Censors of a person of high ethical standing might readily be interpreted as an urge for a bit more effort in behalf of dentistry, than a denial of privilege.

7. "To what extent shall we give consideration to the demands, suggestions, criticisms, etc., of the members and how much freedom should be given the Sections?"

Every effort is made to inform the nominator regarding a nomination and only in a few instances do we have difficulty and have to submit to abuses. We try to be helpful to them. The present method of consulting with the Sections regarding nominations, after initial approval by the Board of Censors has been quite valuable. The more recent approach to pass on to the Section Officers the controversies arising over a nominee among the local censors in the state, seems valuable, although only a year old. From it, the Sections are learning of possible difficulties that would arise if complete selection were left in their hands. More power in selection in the hands of the Sections does not seem desirable at present.

8. "How can we make sure that good men are not being overlooked?"

Good men are still being overlooked. Perhaps we should urge the Sections to look over their areas from time to time.

9. "Is it desirable to have more types of membership than regular and honorary?"

Life membership has been suggested, but not approved by the Board of Regents. The present method of approving membership without dues, upon request, seems to meet all requirements in that direction. I have always felt that an associate membership might be a good way to tie teachers in the basic sciences, who are not dentists, more closely to the profession. Qualifications should be high; privileges and dues perhaps restricted.

10. "Is a junior membership desirable?"

Inasmuch as Fellowship is dependent upon "achievement" junior membership does not seem possible.

11. "Is it desirable to limit total membership in the College?"

This could easily defeat our purpose of recognizing "achievement"!

12. "To Improve Public Understanding and Appreciation of Oral Health Service."

a. What are we doing to bring this about? Our efforts have been primarily to develop our relations with allied organizations. In this regard we have won recognition by American Association for the Advancement of Science, International Association for Dental Research, United States Public Health Service, etc. We have gained recognition in limited areas, as a result of our program material at the time of our Convocations, our Committee reports and research effort. We have not developed direct public contact for the furtherance of this objective.

b. With Socialization always a threat, what can we do to keep the public informed? The best way to meet demand for socialization is to seek and gain the confidence of the people and keep them informed on health matters and their solution. As a step in this direction, I should like to propose:

1. That the American College of Dentists sponsor a dental health conference and invite to this conference table representative groups interested in dental health. This should include consumer, labor leaders, executives, professional persons, educators, ministers, etc.

2. That we encourage the establishment of lecture series on the Importance of Dental Health!

The relationship between the national organization and the Sections is also important. For the most part Sections function independently of the national organization though they are required to abide by its by-laws. A Section can be likened to a branch on a vine. It is nurtured by the vine but it is the nature of the branch to contribute vitality to the vine and thus promote its growth and effectiveness.

A survey of the Sections indicates that only a few carry out effective programs furthering the objectives of the College. The survey also indicates that most sections look to the national organization for leadership in the selection of work projects. Where several Sections are carrying on similar or related activities, coordinating committees or groups are usually needed if projects are National in scope. However Sections should be encouraged to select work projects which are of importance in their respective localities.

The Officers and Board of Regents, believing that the national organization can be more useful in promoting the objectives of the College, also examined critically its governing and administrative structure. As a result of this examination the President was authorized, at the meeting in St. Louis, to appoint two committees. One to be known as the Committee on Committees and the other as the Committee on College Headquarters. Drs. Harry S. Thomson, ex officio, G. D. Timmons and R. S. Vinsant with Dr. K. C. Pruden serving as chairman, constitute the Committee on Committees.

This group made an exhaustive study of the committee structure of the College and found that many committees which have been inactive for varying periods of time, are still being appointed though their work has been completed or their duties assumed by other organizations. This situation is not peculiar to the College. It exists in many organizations. It was also found that the personnel of some committees has been the same, or nearly the same, for several years. The report of this committee recommended that certain committees be discontinued and this recommendation was approved at the Regents' meeting in Chicago in February 1953. It would seem quite obvious that a more frequent change in personnel of most of the committees at least, would benefit the organization. It would provide opportunity for more Fellows to service and bring fresh viewpoints into the life current of the College.

Included in the report of this committee were the following suggestions, for consideration by the Board of Regents:

1. Appointments: That the present policy of appointing the members of a committee for a period of one year be reviewed. Some years ago, appointments were made on a five-year basis. The change to one year was expected to expedite dropping dead wood from committees. Has this been effective?
2. Length of Service: A review of the committees personnel shows that in many instances personnel and particularly Chairmen have held over many years. Does this make for the best interest and effectiveness of the Committee?
3. Use of Talent: The finest talent of the profession should be found in the American College of Dentists if our selections are correct and in accord with our objective in granting Fellowship. Committee activities offer one means of using that talent. Are we making the best use of it?
4. Specific Assignments: Would it be possible to make specific study assignments to committees (of long or short duration) and discharge the committee immediately upon completing the assignments? Would this tend to put new life in our activities, giving more persons an opportunity to serve and expanding our activities and effectiveness?
5. Committee Function: Consideration should be given to developing a manual outlining the duties and objectives of each committee.
6. As a suggestion to the potential possibilities of sound and effective committee work, a review of some of our reports of the past, e.g., Status of Journalism, The Way of Health Insurance, Cost of Dental Care, Prosthetic Service, etc., might well be undertaken, and a brief statement included as a preface (and possibly an incentive) to the manual referred to in #5.
7. Consideration should be given to ways and means of presenting reports annually. Should specific subjects be selected at the beginning of the year, toward which a large portion of the year's activities should be directed?
8. How can the Sections be brought into Committee activities? Should they be given specific assignments?
9. Since we are probably discontinuing the Counsellors' meeting at our February session, could the Sunday afternoon be used for developing committee activities and discussions?
10. Is there any way whereby "project" assignments could be made to individual members, or perhaps a number working independently on the same assignment, through which contributions to the advancement of the profession could be made and our talent used thereby?

Also contained in the report of the Committee on Committees were the following suggestions of possible committee activities:

Trends in our way of life. How will they affect dentistry? Types of practice—advantages and disadvantages under various conditions.

The importance of dentistry in an over-all health service. The need for financial support of dental education. The need for scholarships and Fellowships in the educational program.

What is adequate dental service?

Use of health centers for the distribution of health services—urban and rural

A study of the Magnuson Committee Report.

A study of the availability of dental teachers, their preparation, etc.

A summary of available funds for dentistry from various agencies—for education, fellowships, facilities, research, etc.

A study of the use of dental man-power in the Federal services.

A study of reader interest among dentists.

A study of public relations methods.

It is felt that the report of the Committee on Committees is exceptionally valuable in considering any changes in the committee structure.

The meeting in St. Louis was particularly opportune for the Committee on College Headquarters, composed of Drs. Harry S. Thomson, ex-officio, B. F. Theilen, W. N. Hodgkin, and James H. Ferguson, Jr., chairman.

This committee was instructed to consider all phases of setting up a headquarters, administrative and physical, and after several months of study brought in a report which contained the following recommendations:

1. That additional space and equipment facilities be provided in the Central Office.
2. That plans be developed for expansion of Central Office personnel by providing a full-time Executive Secretary.
3. That the selection of such a person be the duty of the Board of Regents.
4. That in order to provide funds for these purposes, and the expansion of College activities generally, the Membership fee be increased to $200.00, and the Annual Dues to $15.00.
5. That a By-Laws Committee be appointed to prepare the necessary amendments to the By-Laws to provide these changes.
6. That the amendments be submitted to the membership for approval at the Executive session of the College on Sunday morning, September 27, 1953.

I should like to comment on these recommendations:

1. At the present time the Secretary's office is considered the headquarters of the College. Actually it is a private office. Not only has Dr. Brandhorst furnished office space, but other of his private facilities and equipment as well.

2. It is believed by the Committee, the Officers and the Board of Regents that the time has arrived in the life of the College when the recommended changes should be made in order that the national organization can more effectively assist the Sections and the individual members in forwarding the work of the College. In order to accomplish this it seems necessary to employ a full-time executive secretary. Few Fellows are aware that our present Secretary has served the College for a period of 18 years without any compensation whatever in addition to using his own private office and facilities. It is extremely fortunate that at this time Dr. Brandhorst is in position and willing to become our Secretary if that is the desire of the Fellows of the College. We have imposed on him too long. The present situation cannot be permitted to continue. I believe few Fellows have known how much time such services as he has rendered have taken and how unstintingly he has given of his thought, energy and time to advance the aims and interests of the College.

3. The appointment of the Executive Secretary by the Board of Regents is in line with the manner in which such matters are handled by other organizations and I assume experience has proved this to be the most satisfactory and efficient method. There are obviously numerous reasons, one of which is the possibility of the necessity for acting quickly. This recommendation on the part of the Committee, it seems to me, is sound.

4. The last three recommendations are for changes in the by-laws. These will be submitted to the Committee on Constitution and By-laws.

The activity of the Officers and Regents during the past year has been chiefly in the field of considering the recommendations of the Committee on Headquarters. It is the unanimous opinion of the committee members, the Officers, and Regents that if these recommendations are approved a definite step forward in making possible further advancement of the purposes and aims of the College will have been achieved.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

HARRY S. THOMSON, D.D.S., Toronto, President-Elect

Tonight we exemplify the international character of the American College of Dentists in that I, a Canadian, have been chosen as your president for the coming year.

In conferring this high office upon me, you are making a generous gesture towards all those Fellows of the College who are, like myself, Canadians. I am sure this recognition will be greatly appreciated by them.

For myself, I accept the office with grateful thanks. You know, however, that this honor conferred upon me is one to be accepted with humility and reverence and an awareness of the obligations of the trust imposed. Such a privilege brings with it unusual responsibility, since I must strive to follow worthily in a succession of outstanding presidents.

The first task of a president is to deliver an inaugural address. This is according to precedent and tradition. Certainly it harks back to ancient days when the tribe met to hear their Chief in council. He told them what they must do, and what they must not do. But tonight, time for this address takes away from your enjoyment of the banquet itself, or from your delight in the entertainment that is to follow. Therefore, I shall be brief.

May I direct my first remarks to those of you who have today been received into the fellowship of our College. It is a signal honor and one that falls upon comparatively few. You have been singled out from your confreres for this distinction because you have contributed something of tangible value to the advancement of oral health service and the elevation of standards in your profession.

Your contributions may have been made in one or several ways: To the profession direct; to the patients who come under your care; through your efforts to extend the welfare of the community; or through the inspiration and assistance you have given to worthy students in the study of dentistry.

You carry on a busy practice, but you have gone beyond the call of duty. You have sacrificed private interests and leisure hours to the needs of others. Your achievements have spoken for themselves.

Your first thought on receiving this honor was undoubtedly a question, "To whom do I owe this special recognition?"

My answer to that is, you need look no farther than yourselves. You have been building better than you know. You have been giving freely of yourselves, of your time and your labor, to the benefit of your profession and the better health of the people whom you serve. Need I say that there is also a deeper purpose in thus honoring you. It is our earnest expectation that your knowledge, skill and enthusiasm will be available, through your associations here, to the further advancement of the standards of our College.

In the days ahead, as you meditate on the honor you have received today, think of the times when you were striving to reach a conclusion to some tantalizing problem, times when you were tired but refused to admit defeat, times when you were discouraged because it seemed that your efforts were producing no appreciable results or recognition. Then recall that well-worn quotation, "The good that men do bears fruit in due season," and thank God that through this College your opportunities for furthering your good work have been greatly extended.

Your experience is one that has been shared by all who have dedicated their lives to a worthwhile objective. If a man is honest in his endeavors, he is constantly building stepping stones throughout his lifetime, and as he builds he is carried higher and sometimes up beyond the level of his confreres, where his achievements gain recognition and are suitably honored.

The College is unique in that the only reward it has to offer you is a greater opportunity to serve it better. You now have the privilege of consulting and collaborating with over two thousand Fellows of the College. Theirs is the finest talent in our profession. They are men with keen minds and highly developed aptitudes for every branch of dentistry—research, prevention, prosthetics, education, socio-economics, organization and statistics. These are your co-workers in this broad field of endeavor.

We welcome you. We need you, and the profession awaits the fruits of our combined efforts.

In 1920, the College was founded by twenty men of vision and courage. Each one of them is worthy of a high place in Dentistry's Hall of Fame. Only four are living today: Milus M. House, California; Ervin A. Johnson, Florida; Albert L. Midgley, Rhode Island and Roscoe H. Volland, Iowa.

These men founded our College that it might give inspired leadership in every movement towards better dentistry and sounder health procedure. They gave of their strength to lift dentistry out of the deep rut of purely curative and restorative treatment onto the ever broadening highway of preventive dentistry. For us they formulated standards and ideals, and down through the years the College has never faltered in endeavoring to foster and maintain those standards and ideals.

As an example of the wisdom of the founders, you will observe that 'to confer fellowship' is but one of the five objectives they laid down. Let me remind you once more of these five great objectives:

1. To promote the ideals of the dental profession.
2. To advance the standards and efficiency of dentistry.
3. To stimulate graduate study and efforts by dentists.
4. To improve public understanding and appreciation of Oral Health Service.
5. To confer fellowship in recognition of meritorious achievement, especially in dental science, art, education and literature.

Thus you will see that the main purpose of the College was to bring together in one corporate body the finest minds in the profession, that they, working together, might lay a foundation and build an organization that would realize these great objectives.

Our predecessors have built wisely. The foundations are solid, well and truly laid. The superstructure has been rising each year, gaining eminence and impressiveness. Let us see to it that you who have joined us as Fellows today, and I, inaugurated as President, do solemnly and earnestly devote ourselves to the task for which the structure was designed, and that the principles for which it was dedicated may be held inviolate.

From its beginning the College has offered non-political leadership in meeting the problems of our profession. It has not been motivated by a spirit of dictatorship; it does not infringe upon the prerogatives, duties, or privileges of national, state, or local dental bodies. It is not a self-appointed group of reformers, nor does it presume to speak for the profession in any official capacity. Its policy has been to study closely all phases and activities contributory to the progress of dentistry. Some of these studies develop into projects. Every project under consideration is earnestly examined and, if found practical, is initiated and carried to a point where its effectiveness is proven. It is then handed over for continuation or completion to a national, state, or local organization.

The College has undertaken and duly fulfilled tasks great and small in the last thirty-three years, tasks which hitherto had not been essayed. Each one of these and many others developed into changes or movements within the profession, which will be written into the history of Dentistry and Dental Health of this era.

In order that the College may be made more aware of the changes, needs and problems facing Dentistry, the College has set up standing committees to study and report on various subjects within our profession, including our professional relations with the general public. Reports of these committees are made available to the Fellows of the College, and some of them have been sent out to all dentists in the United States and Canada.

Outstanding is the Simon-Sinai Report on "The Way of Health Insurance." Another is "Dental Health Plans in Europe"; a third is "Reports on the British Dental Health Plan" by Drs. Myers and Gullett. These reports have provided us with useful information and helped to crystallize opinion in various directions.

The Committee on Prosthetic Service has been and still is one of our most active groups. It keeps the profession posted on the current status of that problem and related developments in various parts of the country. At the present time it is giving special attention and study to dentistry, laboratory and dental trade relations, a subject which is causing all of us much concern.

The Committee on Prevention is putting extra effort into a study of the factors which interfere with the attainment of maximum dental prevention and control practices. Further reference will be made to the activities of this committee later on in this report.

The Committee on Certification of Specialists has done a splendid job over several years. The advisory board on specialists of the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Education is an outgrowth of the stimulus, guidance and activity of this committee. Its objective is accomplished and the activity is now in the hands of a competent and proper agency—the American Dental Association.

The Committee on Education has a useful function in promoting dental teacher training through fellowship awards.

The Committee on Journalism has settled on a program of clarifying periodical dental literature. The activity of this committee has resulted in the formation of the American Association of Dental Editors. This group is best able to handle the problem of standards in the field of our professional publications.

The Committee on Medical-Dental Relations has done a splendid piece of work. Since dentistry has taken its place as one of the public health agencies, it is essential that our professional relations with the medical fraternity should be open, free and cooperative.

The Research Committee was given a grant from the College for emergency financing, but this has not been called upon to its full allotment.

The Committee on Socio-Economics performs a very necessary function in the College at the present time. Since we face the menace of ill-advised dental public health plans, there is immediate necessity for studying those already in operation. It is imperative that this committee should be aware of all moves made by governments in the direction of public health measures involving dentistry, and should take steps to avoid errors existing in present plans before they form part of any scheme evolving on this continent.

The duties of the Committee on Dental Student Recruitment are self-evident from the title. There is, unquestionably, a crying need for more dentists, but the problem is greatly complicated by the lack of that financial support which would permit universities to provide increased facilities for a greater number of students. This increased financial support must be made available to these institutions, not only for enlargement of their present quarters, but for additions to their teaching staff.

A recent survey made by United States Public Health Service emphasized the unmet needs of the dental schools, particularly for additional research facilities and staff. Of the forty schools studied, sixteen reported operating deficits totalling, in round figures, $1,600,000. It is estimated that $60,000,000 is required at the present time to provide adequate teaching facilities for the present number of undergraduates.

Fees paid by students provide only one-third of the income of dental schools in the United States. The necessary balance must be secured from government and municipal bodies. Only 5% is from endowment, gifts and grants. A similar situation prevails in Canada.

Do these figures suggest anything to you? They do to me. They indicate that the College could give leadership in an organized effort to obtain funds, perhaps through bequests from dentists, and a greater share than we have had from private and institutional endowments, and contributions from philanthropists and philanthropical foundations.

The American College of Dentists is endeavoring to relieve the situation somewhat by establishing scholarships for the further training of dentists who have an aptitude and desire to make teaching their life work. This plan might well be extended to embrace, when funds are available, scholarships from all the national, state and local dental bodies throughout the United States and Canada. The American College of Dentists provides funds, not only for teacher training but for educational facilities and research.

I strongly recommend, particularly to the new Fellows, the reports of the committees of the College giving details of their activities.

During the past 20 years, Sections of the College have been organized for the purpose of promoting and sustaining local interest in the advancement of professional affairs of the College. Some twenty-nine of these Sections have been formed throughout the country. Some of these are fulfilling their functions; others are not fully active.

It is the belief of the Board of Regents that the development of Sections is desirable, but it appears that some new incentive must be provided by our Regents to make these Sections more fully active.

One Section that deserves special mention here is the Tri-State. At its annual meeting last spring, this Section put on a two-day program that would have done credit to any State Society annual meeting. Their program included outstanding men who presented papers and clinics on many pressing professional problems. I congratulate the Secretary and the Chairman of this meeting on its success and on the numbers attending.

The present trends in our way of life are familiar—too familiar—to many of us. A large proportion of the population appears to be striving for "something different," calling it the "new" or "modern" trend.

A certain measure of this change from the old to the new is desirable. Following tradition is commendable, but we must not follow too closely. New traditions must be established to meet changing standards to add to the traditions of the past. Without change there can be no progress.

Now we may laugh at the new trends in artistic expression, we may swear at the modern method of buying our groceries, but similar changes are taking place in every phase of living. Dentistry, in a measure, is affected by like changes, one of the most outstanding being specialization. This change is justified up to a certain point. There is no question that a man who has been highly trained in some one branch is best qualified to give treatment in that particular branch. At the same time, he must be competent to relate the symptoms he treats to the well being of the whole patient. He must be able to recognize and diagnose other abnormal conditions in the patient's mouth beyond the scope of his specialty and advise the patient to consult early with his family dentist. Therefore, it is imperative that before any dentist is certificated as a specialist, he should spend a sufficient period of time in acquiring a thorough knowledge of general dental practice.

Today, there is a tendency among students of dentistry in their second and third year, to assert that they are interested only in specialization. They look without interest on such general practice as treating toothache or prophylaxis. If this attitude becomes general, or worse still, if a large number of young dentists desert the general practice field, it will be detrimental to our best professional interests.

Therefore, there should be no lessening but rather an extension of general practice experience requirements for certification of specialists.

There is also a tendency among so-called "leading" dentists to streamline their practices. Their program for tomorrow was set down a week ago, and no variation or interruption is allowed. If not governed by humane principles, this procedure will endanger our professional standing, more particularly in our public relations.

Do not misunderstand me. In these busy times, it is necessary to take advantage of every minute in order to take care of the greatest number within a given time. Let us have streamlined practices, but let us set aside in our daily program every day, two or three fifteen-minute intervals in which we can take care of those emergencies and difficult situations which trouble our patients and prospective patients.

It is for more humanity I ask. In the world of nature, the organism which cannot adapt to its environment is doomed. As our modern way of life evolves and changes, we will find that our profession too must adapt itself to the needs of society. Our success in reaching a harmonious balance with society depends on the degree of humanity that each and every dentist displays as he discharges the responsibilities of his professional life.

A much needed change in our executive headquarters' arrangements is to become effective during the coming year. For the last thirty-three years, the executive duties of the College have been carried out willingly and unselfishly by the Fellows themselves. No member of the College Executive has received any salary or honorarium. Each official has paid his own expenses while attending meetings or convocations. They have felt it an honor and privilege to serve in any capacity. I think this arrangement should continue, and that we should accept this voluntary service in the spirit in which it is given.

But there is one exception to be made, and that exception is our Secretary. Our College has grown to a body of 2000 Fellows. Those of you who take an active part in local or state organizations with a membership of such size realize what an important and arduous task our Secretary has.

During the last year, a committee was set up to study and report on our headquarters and its facilities. The report states that Dr. Otto Brandhorst has performed the duties of the Secretary of the College for the last 18 years without any cost whatever to the College. He has been more than a Secretary. Our President holds office for one year only. Dr. Brandhorst is the only permanent official with a knowledge of past history and present needs. He is, and has been, the general manager. The committee learned that he spends an average of three hours a day on the affairs and concerns of the College. He carries on a private practice in orthodontia; he was Dean of the Washington University School of Dentistry, retiring July 1st of this year; he has been and still is a chairman or member of some of the most important committees in the American Dental Association, and this year he is its president. His many other activities are too numerous to detail here, except to add that he is also the head of a home and family. Along with all of these, he has fulfilled the duties of Secretary of our College, promoted its objectives, endeavored to keep pure and undefiled its principles, and is ever alert to the necessity for new programs and projects.

The committee today reported in the form of resolutions, which were adopted at our morning session. The resolutions offered amendments to the by-laws which made possible the creation of the position of full-time executive secretary, with salary, and we are happy that Dr. Brandhorst has agreed to accept the position.

We all know that prevention and control of caries and its sequela, and of other diseases of the oral cavity, is our sacred duty. If we fail to practice this duty, we lose our right to be called professional men. Intensive research during the last decade has given us knowledge regarding prevention and control which can and must be included in our daily practice. Research data and reports are constantly being made available to all dentists. Newspapers, magazines and books generously print information on this subject which is read with great interest by the public. The colleges are adding to the number of hours devoted to teaching of prevention and control. Yet it is alarming to find that many dentists disregard preventive practice procedure in their daily work.

Our Committee on Prevention, Dr. Carl L. Sebelius, Chairman, has during the past year, started action to find out why. He has collaborated in a study of this problem with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of the United States Public Health Service, and it is hoped that a project may develop to determine the factors affecting the use of preventive practices among the dental profession. Such a survey would provide us with some specific knowledge on why preventive dentistry practice procedures, which are now taught in all the dental schools, which have been taught repeatedly over the last few years through post-graduate courses, which are the subject of interesting articles in the dental journals, and to which much time has been devoted at all annual meetings of national and state dental bodies, are not the routine practice of every practicing dentist in every office in our country. Surely no one who is earnestly striving to live up to his professional responsibilities can plead a lack of knowledge of these practices or ignore them.

Dentistry for Children is the essence of prevention. Professionally, we have recognized this. Yet in spite of that, parents are finding it difficult to obtain dental treatment for their children.

All the old theories and arguments against treatment for children have been exploded. A strong material argument for it is that if honestly and consistently carried out it will lower the cost of dental care to the individual over the years, to one-third of the present cost.

Also in one generation, maybe, it would lessen the extent of that ubiquitous "back-log" of dental treatment which confronts us in every consideration and discussion of an increase in dental services to the public.

It will be disastrous and alarming if we ultimately realize that our profession itself is hindering the progress of prevention by centering our thoughts and efforts almost wholly on rehabilitation of diseased teeth and neglected mouths, when we should be teaching, preaching, and reaching out in our daily practice, toward Dentistry for Children, which would bring us to a point nearer complete prevention.

I hope that this weakness in our approach to Dentistry for Children and prevention will be considered by the Board of Regents this year, to the point that a strong committee will be appointed to examine and report on this problem. It is my further hope that out of the work of this committee will come a plan of action that will reach every dentist in the United States and Canada with a message inspiring them to give first place in their professional activities to preventive procedure and dentistry for children.

The need for action could inspire the inauguration of a crusade with all of the spiritual implications that word implies. I care not what body gives leadership in such a crusade. Perhaps our College. But, I do know that if such a plan could be effectively carried out, it would transform our practices, from the purely material, to the spiritual.

To give a service that means better health, and happiness and greater opportunity to the children of our country, would bring us, as individuals, the greatest possible reward for our professional activities and would record the history of our profession in everlasting records.

This is yet a dream. But let us dream, and dream, and dream again, for as the poet says:

> "Tell me not what you have done, but tell me your dreams—
> For we are our dreams and our dreams are all."

We have talked about our College; its founders; what it is doing;

how it is doing it; our programs and their results. We have outlined changes in our administration and made some suggestions for new work. This is writing our history. For as Ralph Waldo Emerson says:

"All things are engaged in writing their history. The planet, the pebble, goes attended by its shadow. The rolling rock leaves its scratches on the mountain; the river, its channel in the soil; the animal, its bones in the stratum; the fern and leaf, their modest epitaph in the coal. Every act of man inscribes itself in the memories of his fellows, and in his own manners and face. The air is full of sounds, the sky of tokens, the ground is all memoranda and signatures, and every object covered over with hints which speak to the intelligent."

Our College is writing its history by its endeavors to advance the standards of dentistry and appreciation of oral health service.

In the coming year may you and I more earnestly strive to live up to our responsibilities as Fellows. If we do we will be better dentists, better health workers and better citizens.

The Heritage of the Past is the Seed that Brings Forth the Harvest of the Future.

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF DENTISTS

Minutes of the Board of Regents, (abbreviated), Cleveland, Sept. 26 and 28, 1953

O. W. BRANDHORST, D.D.S., St. Louis, Secretary

FIRST SESSION

Convened in Cleveland Hotel, Cleveland, Ohio, at 9:00 o'clock, Saturday morning, September 26, 1953 with Pres. Pierson presiding and 13 members present.

Minutes of the February meeting approved.

Treasurer's report showed balance of $21,264.80 in general fund as of September 1, 1953, with Savings Bonds in the amount of $30,000. H. Edmund Friessel Endowment Fund showed a total of $3,682.72.
